Jane-Page Crump, President

YEAR ESTABLISHED	1978	AFFILIATION	ASID
MEDIAN PRICE OF HOMES COMPLETED		$2.5-8 MILLION
OFFICE LOCATION	HOUSTON, TX

When her mother enrolled her in a sewing class, 10-year-old Jane-Page was forever changed. "I pursued fashion and private art classes until my first year in college," she says. But, then, with the advice of her college counselor, Crump decided to parlay her interest in the arts into a business degree, which she feels is one of the main factors behind her success as an interior designer today. "What great advice I was given," she says. "When I explained my desire to one day open my own boutique and design clothes, I was told, 'A business degree is a must.' I definitely feel that I owe my business success to my BBA and MBA degrees." Integrating her childhood knack for design with a savvy business skill set, Crump decided to establish the Jane Page Design Group, a full-service firm specializing in what she describes as "comfortable, dramatic, livable interior design for large estate homes." "Most of our clients return to us for all of their home interior needs, their second homes, remodels, etc. The more I get to know about my clients, the more inspired I am to exceed their expectations." With two or more designers assigned to a project, and an approach that involves teaming up with the client, architect and builder, Jane Page Design Group employs a collaborative philosophy. "I want the client's look to be 'new' in every aspect—including technology, efficiency and finishing products."

Q+A

WHAT ARE THE KEY INFLUENCES IN YOUR WORK TODAY?

My clients are well-educated about design and are always challenging me with new ideas.

WHAT ARE THE MAIN DETERMINANTS IN YOUR DESIGN PROCESS?

I enjoy the entire process, because each decision is based on a prior decision. If I miss a "step," the overall design can be compromised.

WHO HAS MOST INFLUENCED YOUR WORK?

My mother. Her philosophy was that if you buy quality, you should never need to replace it. When I turned 13, my mother and both of my grandmothers helped me "design" my bedroom. They were all ladies with a great deal of style.

WHICH AWARDS MEAN THE MOST TO YOU?

All of my awards mean so much to me and the designers on my staff, as they validate the creative ability of our design team.
